Recruitment solutions for your business

Kirra services offers specialised recruitment services to fill short and long term resourcing needs with the best talent. Because we work in the business, we have the expertise to match the right people with the right skills and clearances to hit the ground running.

We connect great people

The best candidates aren't looking for work. As your recruitment partner we source and place high quality technology, digital and business transformation professionals. Whether you're an employer looking for talent, or an ICT professional looking for your next career move, we can help. We match talent to opportunity.

Next generation outsourcing

- flexible and fast resourcing when and where you need it
- skills and resources to support projects as they scale up/down
- additional resources to complete task-based work
- resources to suit the budget and needs of your business outcomes
